MESSAGE FROM AGC OF CALIFORNIA PRESIDENT

On behalf of AGC First Lady Diane Weltz and myself, I would like to invite you to participate in AGC’s Spring Conference from April 30th to May 2nd in beautiful Monterey, California.

First, a big THANK YOU to all of the sponsors who have committed their support to this year’s Spring Conference. Without such strong support, we would be unable to provide a conference of this caliber. You will find a list of current sponsors in this brochure. At Conference, sponsors will be recognized on signage and individually by proudly worn name badge ribbons. Please be sure to thank them for their generous contributions to this year’s event.

We are very excited to be back in Monterey at the beautiful Monterey Plaza Hotel & Spa. This venue has always been a personal favorite of mine and Diane’s, and I know it provides a perfect opportunity for you and your employees to learn, network and enjoy one of the world’s most breathtaking places.

The theme of “Team Building,” first shared in my article for the California Constructor will be felt throughout Spring Conference. Specifically, we will place focus on our industry’s next generation and how we are building the future leaders and trade workers of our industry today. In keeping with this theme, we are pleased to welcome a large number of our Student Chapter Members, quite literally the future of our industry. We also have a number of meetings and events focused on the future workforce: the “Building Connections” CLC Lunch and the “Meet Our Future” AGC Student Chapter Luncheon. Be sure to check out the information on these events in this brochure.

Of course, like all AGC Conferences, this event is not all work and no play! The beautiful Poppy Hills Golf Course, open again after a recent remodel, will be sure to challenge even our best competitors. Additionally, we have organized a Kayak Tour that will explore one of the most pristine bays in the world just outside the Monterey Bay Aquarium. If you plan on bringing the kids, be sure to check out our brand new Youth Program: Camp Construction.

Our “Class of AGC” Welcome Reception, “Constructing Careers” President’s Reception, and Friday “Back to the Future” Reception & Dinner will provide the networking opportunities and outreach to the next generation that we all know is so important for the future of our industry.

We encourage you to register early and take advantage of the Early Bird registration fees. Once again, AGC’s Spring Conference looks to be the event of the season with opportunities for gaining new contacts, vital industry updates and, most importantly, “Building for the Future.”

See you in Monterey!

Curtis and Diane Weltz

Major General Matt Caulfield served for thirty-four years in the Marine Corps as an infantry officer. He served in a variety of infantry command assignments, including company command as a lieutenant and sea detachment commander. In Vietnam, he advanced from company commander to battalion executive officer, 3rd Battalion, 26th Marines. Subsequent to Vietnam he commanded two battalions, 3rd Battalion 5th Marines and 1 Battalion 9th Marines. He was the first Marine officer selected as a military fellow in the Council on Foreign Relations in New York and served as the military assistant to President Reagan and Deputy Director of the White House Military Office. Major General Caulfield has received numerous awards and decorations for his service, including the Purple Heart and the National Defense Service Medal.

Major General Caulfield’s interest in the ways the civilian sector could benefit from talented men and women departing the Armed Forces led him to establish a subsidiary of a major corporation which recruited all of its personnel from members of the Armed Forces. He subsequently joined a company founded by his youngest son Dan, also a former Marine, which developed a process that has helped thousands of veterans find jobs in the civilian sector.

Considered a “subject matter expert” on transitioning service members into the civilian sector, Major General Caulfield has met with numerous government and military officials and members of Congress in an effort to support and improve military transition services. Major General Caulfield has appeared in nationwide television news, radio programs and in the print media on behalf of veteran’s employment. He has appeared before the US House of Representatives and Committee on Veterans Affairs on several occasions and often consults with public officials on a variety of issues concerning veteran’s transition to civilian life.

Major General Caulfield has extensive experience in accessing veterans for the construction industry and will be discussing this important topic in his keynote address. He conceived and was the founding executive director of a nationwide veterans’ referral program. Most recently he has been involved with the United Association’s Veterans in Piping program, which is the model for new paradigm on transition from the military into the civilian sector. This organization provides certification in a translatable skill, networking and connection to a quality career prior to separation from active duty.

With the launch of LEED v4 come changes to the LEED Professional Credential Exams for the LEED Green Associate and LEED AP with specialty designations. Additional improvements are coming with LEED v4, including web-based reference guides, online web based training and simplification of the documentation and submittal requirements.

LEAN CONSTRUCTION & SUCCESSFUL IMPLEMENTATION

The success of any lean construction implementation depends on several factors both internal and external to the Project or Organization leading the effort. The technical and social implications require an understanding of objectives, capabilities, and leadership to create the appropriate lean operating framework for the individual organization and the collective project enterprises in which they operate. Common perceptions are that a successful lean implementation requires a project to operate under an IPD. This course will focus on the benefits of designing and implementing a lean strategy for individual organizations that will also benefit project team.

EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

April 28-30, 2014

As another training option, the 2014 Executive Leadership Development Program will be presented by the AGC Education and Training Department in coordination with this year’s 2014 AGC Spring Conference. This course is an intensive, construction specific training program designed for contractors, by contractors. Taught by highly qualified industry leaders, this three day training program utilizes a group-interactive format complete with real world examples and exercises. Through a series of personal assessment tools, including: Thomas Kilmann ConflictMode Instrument, DiSC Assessment, and CheckPoint 360 evaluation, this dynamic three-day program allows participants to expand their leadership skill set and build confidence for continued growth.

During the course, participants not only receive training from their instructors, but also get the opportunity to solve problems, learn from, and engage in dialogue with fellow management and executives. It is this dual learning experience that makes this program so valuable.

Participants will complete the course having gained the tools necessary to achieve effective leadership success in the construction industry, including a personalized leadership development plan and a new sense of confidence in their leadership skill set. Registration fees apply. Visit http://www.agc-ca.org/AGCLED for more information.

HOTEL INFORMATION
AGC’s Spring Conference 2014 will be held at the beautiful Monterey Plaza Hotel & Spa.
